SMALL UAV COALITION HEADS TO LONDON FOR COMMERCIAL UAV SHOW

Michael Drobac and Jennifer Richter will present opportunities and challenges for small UAVs

The Small UAV Coalition is excited to participate in the Commercial UAV Show in London, UK on October 21-22. In addition to sponsoring the event, the Coalition's executive director Michael Drobac and Akin Gump partner Jennifer Richter will deliver a presentation on October 22 titled "One Small Coalition, One Big Goal: Timely Use of Small UAVs." The duo will discuss current and future capabilities of small UAVs, regulatory developments in the US, and issues related to communication capabilities for small UAVs.

The Commercial UAV Show is the largest global gathering of the commercial and civil UAV universe. This year, 1,500 attendees, 70 exhibitors and 60 speakers will provide audiences with insights into this emerging market, enabling them to hear first-hand from industry and end user organizations.
